Sixteenth Senatorial District Can didates Pledged to Sup port Cullom.

VERY BITTER POLITICAL PILL

Governor Had Confidently Counted on Three Members of the Legis lature From That District -Fierce Struggle.

Hilman, BL, March 22 - Small and Edward Curtis, able Houtenants of Governor Tunfor the past four years, were nominated Kankakes a delegate to the National Convention, to withdraw Ed Curtis from the Legislature ticket and name an anti-Tanner man in his place, and even promised that Small would resign his position as trustee of the Kankakee Hospital for the Insanc-All this would not satisfy the intense hate of the anti-Tanner-Small element, and the proposition was refected.

Asked what would satisfy them, the re-ply was the withdrawal of Small as a can-didate for the Senate. This was not conceded, and to-day's convention met with both sides armed with tomahawks.

Lawyer W. R. Hunter was the anti-Tanr leader in Kankakee and contested with Small for the county's delegation for Senator. He secured only six of the twentyeight delegates, and his six delegates were ready and willing at any stage of to-day's proceedings to vote for any man in Kankakee County, Small barred. Away back in 1888 the Senatorial Conven tion entered into a solemn pledge to give the senatorial nomination to Iroquois that year and then alternate with Kankake, each county taking one of the two members of the House. It is Kanakee's time to have the Senator this year, and, having carried his county, Small expected no opposition in the Senatorial Convention from Iroquois. There would have been none had it not been for the Tanner-Cullom feud, frequois is intensely Cullom and as intensely anti-Tanner, Kankakee includes the great hospital and all its influence was for Tanner and against Cullom. tion entered into a solemn pledge to give Convention by the old system, while Kanka kee adopted the new-fangled primary law, which provides for the selection of deletes to all conventions by the voters difectly in their election precincts. The Hun-ter-Cullom faction won out in six precincts in Kankakee County. Iroquois instructed for W. A. Kankin of Onarga for the House. Rankin; is a wealthy man; nobody seems to know how much he is worth, but the Board of Review tilted his assessment $50,000 this spring, and he bawled like a baby about it, threatening to take the matter up with the Legislature, when "we business men will repeal the odious law." This is supposed to be one reason why Mr.

Rankin is a candidate for the Legislatur this year. Rankin was here to-day. He was against the Small outfit. Small was backed by his colleagues on the Hospita Board, Buckingham of Danville and Almet owell of Gillman, and brought from Kankakee County probably 300 shouters adorned with badges inscribed "For Small and Cur tis." They had lungs, too, and made them-selves felt in a decent manner.

Judge John Small, brother of the candidate, were also in the party. Mr. Hunter was here, but kept his room. His forces were commanded by ex-Sheriff Byrne, W. W. Huckins, Charley Warner and J. Frank

In the hospital precinct at the recent primarles, Judge Small, Len Small, Chairman Jeffers of the County Committee and others of Small's agents, forced their way into th ooth and would not leave. The Chief of colice respectfully asked Judge Small to lie, but he refused, declaring that he was bogger man than the Chief.

The 5 per cent assessment on the hos-pital employes for the Republican corrupion fund amounted in February to $1 60 and it is presumed that this was the source of Small's supplies for the primaries and to bring his strikers down to Gillman to

The State delegation will be headed by L. Y. Sherman, speaker of the House; V. Chandler of this city, Frank K. Updegraff, E. K. Westfall, Geo. A. Seeley, Philander Avery, W. H. McCord, Henry Terrill, G. A. McCartney and A. W. Blythe comprising the rest of the delegation.

The Tanner-Culiom fight was not touched on further than to indorse the administration of the Governor and commend the course of the Senator.

True to prediction, the delegates were instructed for Senator driville H. Berry for Attorney General, and while Instructions were not passed, it is understood that M. O. Williamson will have first call on the delegation when he needs them for State Treasurer. Speaker Sherman was not indorsed for Governor, but he has the delegation to do with as he desires, and any chance to secure for him the nomination will not be overlooked. The Senatorial designation was instructed for him for Representative.

FORTIS AND INDICATION ministration. It was the duly of all to stand, not by the Democratic or the Republican party, but by the Government and by the flag. Our new territory has come to us not by conquest, but by the accident of war. No matter how acquired, the action of the Government should be maintained at all hazards.

of war. No matter how acquired, the action of the Government should be maintained at all hazards.

"One of the most important measures that have claimed the attention not only of Covaress, but of the entire country in many years, is the Puerto Rican tariff bill for which I voted. This is a measure that has been talked about more and understood less than any measure in recent years, and I will endeavor to explain to you the situation in order that you may determine the necessity for its passage. The bill provides for the imposition of a tariff of its per cent upon Puerto Rican exports and imports. At the close of the war with Spain the Puerto Ricans were in a demoralized condition commercially and financially. All business was practically ruined, the labor market was unsettled, and the tornado following added to the general destitution prevailing. Something had to be done by this Government to relieve the islanders. If we attempted to raise a revenue by taxation, it virtually meant that each merchant and property-owner would be forced to contribute a sum toward the support of the whole island, and this was impossible, as there was little or no money in the island. If we attempted to relieve them by making a direct appropriation from this Government, the Democrats would have raised a howl that we could never suppress. The only other alternative was to impose a tax upon exports and imports, and we chose that.

"This tariff is a small one, barely enough to produce a revenue sufficient to carry on the administration of the island while the work of enlightening the people to the medern requirements of civilization is progressing. Every cert of this tariff is turned back into the treasury of Puerto Rico. It is not as if this revenue was being diverted to this Government—it is virtually free trade for the island, has himself said that the measure accomplished the result he desired. Let us tell you something in this connection. When the prespect of free trade for the island was brightest, speculators bought up all the s island, expecting to reap enormous profits by the corner.

They would have enriched themselves enormously at the expense of the helpless Puerto Ricans had it not been for the foresight common sense, aye, and the courage of the Republicans in framing this tariff measure.

"The Democrats tell us the Constitution forbids the placing of a tariff on the experts and imports of the island. We reply that the Constitution does not extend to Puerto Rico, Cuba or the Philippines by virtue solely of its provisions. It requires the action of Congress to make it applicable to these new possessions. able to these new possessions.

They will be extended every benefit and theleas conferred by the Constitution at privilege conferred by the the proper time, but that time has not yet

Puerto likes should be definitely and immediately determined upon considerations and concilitions which felate to that island alone, should not in any particular or degree to affected by considerations which may be involved in the relations of the lines listes to Cuba or the Philippines, and that one regard for piedge given demand an extension to Puerto Rico of free commercial intercourse with the United States and a civi form of government.
